The Department of Classics at the University of Winnipeg warmly invites you to the annual conference of the Classical Association of Canada, to be held May 14-16 (pre-conference events May 13), on the campus of the university in the heart of North America in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Our conference committee has been hard at work to prepare a warm welcome, an exciting slate of events, and a collegial and convivial week of activities.

We will host an opening night reception and banquet in the unparalleled surroundings of the Winnipeg Art Gallery / Qanajuq across from the University. Qanajuq ("it is high, it is lit") is the newest gallery and extension to the Winnipeg Art Gallery. It is home to the largest collection of Inuit art in the world. Our opening night reception will take place in Ilaut ("our relatives," the newest entrance hall) around the three-story glass display cases showing literally thousands of works of art from contemporary Inuit artists. The banquet (May 16) will be held in the Art Gallery's entrance hall, whose Tyrrell stones contain a fascinating fossilized display of local prehistoric dinosaurs. In advance of the banquet, the galleries will be open free of charge to banquet attendees.

It is our pleasure to announce that our keynote speaker is Professor Joel Christensen of Brandon University, who will be speaking at the banquet.
