

Peace-building and Social Justice examines the role of peace building in short-term crisis intervention and long-term conflict transformation processes. Social justice is addressed at the system level.